

We bring real world communities to the virtual world.

SYNDICOMM is building a new online service where you can share ideas and fun in peace and safety. We have communities on various topics—with more coming every month—that you can participate in. Communities are built by people that know the subjects best so that you know you're getting the best possible information, and having the most fun possible!

We keep our population small and friendly by charging a small fee ($10 per month or $25 per quarter). If you provide a credit card number, your first month is free!

Want to join in on the fun? Or even start a forum of your own? Build a new community with us!
